

Dr. Nipon Kwanprom

Dr. Nipon Kwanprom was born into a poor family in Chaingmai. He was awarded a scholarship from the “Mor Chao Fa” Scholarship Fund, a fund for needy doctors under the Patronage of Her Royal Highness Princess Galyani Vadhana, to continue his education at the Faculty of Medicine, Chiangmai University. After graduated in Medicine in 1994, he served as staff in the surgical services at Nan Hospital. Due to lack of surgeons, he was sent to training in general surgery at the Faculty of Medicine, Chiangmai University. Soon after completion of training in 2001 he returned to Nan Hospital and has remained there until now. During the time when there was still no surgical subspecialty at the hospital, he was assigned to operations involving head injury, cardiothoracic, gastrointestinal, K.U.B. and others. He always strives to improve his service by furthering his training at the outside hospitals, such as training in uroendoscopy for 2 months. Since there were only 2 surgeons in the main hospital of the province, he had to work very hard.

Dr. Nipon Kwanprom is a good and hardworking surgeon. He is eager to improve himself all the time and always shows great devotion to his patients.
